DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-36 are pending in this application.

1. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 10/8/2003 and 4/23/2004 are in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Drawings

2. The drawings were received on 6/25/2003. These drawings are acceptable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1, 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ekwuribe et al(US 6,479,692).

US'692 column 13, example 2, lines 55-58 teach crystallization of bicultamide using solvent. It is inherent that the solution is boiled over the boiling point of the solvent and then cooled to crystallize.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1621

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148

USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 1-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over combined teachings of US'692 and Tucker et al(US 4,636,505) and Keil et al(US 5,300,652).

US'692 teach crystallization process of bicalutamide using solvent such as ethyl acetate and petroleum ether. The difference between the reference herein claimed process is that the reference is not teaching other solvent for crystallization as claimed herein and also does not teach seeding of the crystals.

Tucker et al, column 8, example 1, line 29-30 teach toluene as solvent for crystallization. But again the difference lies in the fact that the reference does not teach seeding.

Keil et al is teaching that in the crystallization process, seeding is advantageous in the process of crystallization of an acetanilide, see, column 1, lines 51-52.

It would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the crystallization process of US'692 by including various solvents as taught by Tucker et al, or alternatively use the seeding technique for improving the crystallization, as taught by Keil et al, because the latter reference is expressly teaching that seeding is advantageous in the crystallization, with the reasonable expectation of achieving a purified crystal absent evidence to the contrary. As regards to the solvents, the same can be worked out under routine experimentation.

9. Claims 34-36 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
